

JACOBO CALLER

Jacobo Caller, Food Delivery Brands's CEO

Graduated in Law from Universidad Autónoma de Madrid, he has an extensive career in the consumer sector, with more than 20 years of experience in leading international consumer-oriented companies. Prior to joining Food Delivery Brands, he worked at Walgreens Boots Alliance, where he held the position of Senior Vice President and General Manager for the International Pharmaceutical Retail business (excluding UK and Republic of Ireland).

Between 2013 and 2017 he was head of Toys "R" Us Iberia and in 2003 he joined Carrefour and held the position of Managing Director of Carrefour Supermarkets Spain and CEO of Carrefour Romania, Russia and Turkey.

As CEO of Food Delivery Brands, one of the leading QSR and foodservice groups in the pizza delivery sector, owned by the international investor group KKR since 2019, he leads the company's strategy in the 32 markets in which it is present, as well as the 4 brands it operates internationally: Telepizza, Pizza Hut in Latin America and the Caribbean region, Apache Pizza (the leading pizza delivery brand in Ireland) and Jeno's Pizza (brand operated in Colombia).
