

Christian Digemose

Mr. Christian Digemose is a financial advisory professional with more than sixteen years of industry experience. He is a Managing Director at Newstate Partners, where he specialises in advising parties in-interest on a variety of sovereign and quasi-sovereign financial matters.

Christian previously worked at Houlihan Lokey across the firm's sovereign, corporate restructuring and financial services practice areas in London and in the United States advising both debtors and creditors on special situations, financial restructuring, distressed M&A and valuation transactions.

He serves as a nonexecutive director on the board of various companies, often as an investor appointed director or as an independent board member during times of corporate transformational change. Current and recent roles include serving on the boards of Lecta Limited, several Abengoa group companies, HLDR Investments, LBI (formerly Landsbanki), Solidal Holdco, and VCG Holdings.
